

Leadership Institute (Li7)

January 31 & February 1,
2012

IPRA State Office
Grinnell

We are excited for you to become a part of IPRA's Leadership Institute (Li7). IPRA is committed to develop and encourage leadership in our young professionals across the state. This Institute connects seasoned professionals with numerous years of experience with young professionals. The Institute will share skills and knowledge, personal stories, and more. The Institute is based upon open conversation and dialogue on a variety of topics. Camaraderie and networking are keystones of the Institute.

Participants of Li1 through Li6 all agree attending was one of the best moves of their career.

Terry Hoffman, CPRP and Angie Cole, CPRP facilitate the Institute. Each has served in leadership roles on various committees and board positions. They are also active in leadership in their communities.

offered free of charge.

What its all about ...

IPRA is committed to investing in its young professionals. This Institute will be an open forum for attendees to network with fellow professionals. This fun, small group setting will allow the opportunity for interaction and discussion as well as team building. Attendees are to bring a sleeping bag and inflatable mattress as well as personal items for this overnight training in a camp-style setting. Shower facilities are available at the Ahrens Recreation Center. Dress will be casual. Come prepared to participate.
